

The Royal Arsenal

This Berkeley Homes development at the Royal Arsenal in Woolwich has seen the conversion of old military buildings into some of the most stunning living spaces in London.

The landscaping of the site manages to inject a degree of formality befitting a site such as this while at the same time the use of modern materials makes for an up-to-date, usable and relaxed living environment.

Scotscape has a full time team of gardeners on site looking after all the aspects of the landscaping to the very highest of standards.
